

Making The System Work
Pennsylvania Law Prohibit Employment Termination of Volunteer Firefighters For Time Lost
Act of 1977, P.L. 249, No. 83

There is a law on the books in Pennsylvania that prohibiting employers from firing employees who lost time from employment in the line of duty as volunteer firemen, fire police and volunteer members of ambulance services and rescue squads.

We hear on a reoccurring basis of the lack of awareness of this law by many Pennsylvania employers and failure of some volunteer organizations to educate their new members about the law and the process.

This results in various bad experiences for both the volunteer and the employer and does little to resolve the issue and tends to create tension between the two.

Volunteers should inform their employers in advance of this law and when possible discuss the needs of both the employers and the volunteers, who in actuality are helping the community and perhaps helping the community keep a cap on taxes that could other wise cost an employer more than a few hours of missed work. On the other hand employers especially small ones may have limited staff and on occasion be on a tight deadline to deliver an important product or service to a customer who in fact pays the bills day in and day out. A good mutual agreement in advance is the best answer in most cases.

Some times employers who have several volunteers on their staff can agree in advance allow a cretin number to stay on a call and rest to return to work. For this consideration some employers in turn will let one or two employees leave work for first response calls and additional volunteers off for working incidents if workload allows for it. Other employers only let limited number selected by their peers or workload to respond only on working alarms.

In discussing this at several recent meetings we were advised that some Volunteer Fire Rescue Companies have prepared a preprinted form that they carry in the command vehicle or maintain in the station office. The form on Company Stationary on one side provides the employer with a copy of the law and on the other side an explanation of the occurrence. When an incident occurs prior to some members need to report for work and the member is delayed the form is properly filled out by a responsible officer and given to the volunteer to present to his supervisor on return to work.

On the following pages are a modified copy of a form one volunteer fire company is using.

We suggest you make copies of both sides and keep them available for possible need. Better yet reproduce them on your company stationary.

You can copy and paste the forms from our website www.pafireman@lcf.com
